

THAW FAMILY
ARE CORDIALAll Greet Harry Thaw's Wife,
Except Countess of Yarmouth

SHE IS STILL DISDAINFUL

The Prisoner Entered Court Today in a Jaunty Fashion, Smiled Cheerfully and Chuckled Over a Letter.

New York, Jan. 29.—All the Thaw party was in court when the trial of the young man opened this morning. They carried lunch boxes and looked not unlike a picnic party. Evelyn Thaw was greeted with apparent cordiality by all but the Countess of Yarmouth, who took no notice of her or her chorus girl companion. Harry Thaw is in a cheerful frame of mind this morning in distinct contrast to his demeanor of yesterday. He walked with a jaunty step and greeted his wife and mother smilingly. Several times he smiled and twice chuckled audibly over a letter.

Just when it seemed that the afternoon session yesterday might go by without the selection of a juror, there came a surprise in the selection of Louis Haas, the New York representative of a Philadelphia wholesale candy concern as juror No. 9. Mr. Jerome hesitated for some time over Mr. Haas, who is only about 30 years old.

The district attorney wanted to know just what the proposed juror understood by a reasonable doubt. Haas said it was such a doubt as would move him in some serious matter where his own interests were at stake.

"Would you find the defendant not guilty if a reasonable doubt remained in your mind?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Yes."

"And if every reasonable doubt as to his guilt was removed and you were to let him, even though your act involved punishment for murder in the first degree?"

"Yes," he finally answered.

"The people are content," announced Mr. Jerome.

The defense had no objection and the juror was sworn.

Two more talesmen were examined without result, and at 5 o'clock adjournment was taken until 10:30 o'clock this morning.

John S. Denness, a traveling freight agent, aged 40 years, single, was accepted as the sixth juror at 11:45 this morning. Thaw seemed happy in the belief that the jury will be filled today. The real trial will soon begin. His brighter spirits seemed to inspire his wife and she smiled frequently, showing the first relief from the tense nervous strain she has undergone, which has brought her to the verge of collapse.

Drs. Flint and Lombroso, the principal alienists retained by the state, kept Thaw under close scrutiny all the morning, making notes of their observations.

GIRL IDENTIFIED.

But Her Male Companion in Suicide
Pact Not Known.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 29.—The body of the young woman who is believed to have entered into a suicide pact and who with a male companion was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad near here on Sunday, was last night identified as that of Wilhelmina Lacy of Iowa, a small village a short distance below Gloucester.

The young woman's father is a farmer. He drove the girl to the railroad station in Iowa on Friday. She said she was going to Camden. Where she went is not known, but on Saturday, the authorities have learned, she alighted from a train at Gloucester in the evening. The girl was accompanied by three men, whose identity has not yet been established. Neither has it been determined whether the man who was killed on the railroad with the young woman was one of the three who were seen with her at Gloucester. His body has not been recovered.

EXCITING TIMES
AT GARAGE FIRELoss of $750,000 in New York Early
This Morning—One Hundred Automobiles Were Rendered Worthless.

New York, Jan. 29.—Loss roughly estimated at three quarters of a million dollars resulted from a fire which started just before midnight and burned out the garage of the New Transportation company at Eighth avenue and 40th street.

A rotary charging plant for electric vehicles recently installed at great cost by the owners of the garage was badly damaged. If not ruined, and 100 automobiles owned by private parties were rendered worthless.

Nichols Vandevort, night watchman in the garage, was seen staggering from the building just before midnight, his clothing afire, and gasping for breath. He was followed through the doors by a sheet of flame that extended far above the roof of the building. He was picked up and the fire which enveloped him was extinguished by passers-by. Others ran to a nearby fire alarm box and turned in an alarm.

The firemen reached the scene to find the middle section of the barn a veritable furnace. Three more alarms were sent in in short order, soon bringing Deputy Chief Binn and Commissioner Lantry to the scene.

Hasty efforts were directed toward removing from the garage more than 500 electric gasoline and other kinds of automobiles.

The fire became so hot Chief Binn ordered all hands to quit taking out of the automobiles. This was concurred in by Richard W. Meade, president of the New York Transportation company, who saw the danger of trying further to remove anything from the garage.

ONE BURNED TO DEATH
IN LOWELL FIREKirkley Hyde an Inventor Lost His Life Last Night—Several People Were Injured.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 29.—One man was burned to death, several others were injured, and men and women barely escaped with their lives in a three-alarm fire which destroyed the Card Clothing building in Shattuck street last night.

KIRKLEY HYDE, 55, married, inventor.

The injured:

LEROY KIMBALL, 56, married, burned on face, back and arms, condition serious.

MARY LOUISE MARTELL, aged 25, sprained ankle.

JENNIE MORAN, fell from fire escape and sustained bruises.

A fireman, name unknown, fell down stairs and sprained wrist.

The fire broke out shortly before 6 o'clock, apparently in the shop of E. H. Sever & Co., but the exact cause of the fire is a four story wooden structure extending from Market street to a spur track of the Boston & Maine.

There were 100 men and women at work in the various shops at the time, and as the fire spread rapidly from the third story, many had little time enough to escape by the fire escape on the Shattuck street side of the building.

CAUSED BY A FATAL SIGNAL

Someone Ordered Express Train to Stop and It Did, a Freight Coming
Up Behind and Crashing
Into It.

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 29.—Six railroad men were killed and one passenger was injured at twenty minutes past four this morning when a west-bound freight crashed into the rear end of express train No. 11, which was standing in a deep cut near West Deerfield.

The dead are:

M. A. Fitzpatrick of Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., engineer.

All were in the express train.

The express had stopped in obedience to a signal which had been given to the engineer by someone in the train as yet unknown. Three of those who were killed were in a combination car at the rear of the train. The cars immediately took fire, consuming the bodies of the injured. Nobody was hurt on the freight train. The crew jumped.

FOR HURLING ACID.

Lottie LeClair Got Three Months for Destroying an Eye.

Burlington, Jan. 29.—Lottie LeClair, who brought herself, Rose Marie and the Borette resort into prominence a fortnight ago by throwing carbolic acid in the Macy girl's face, was yesterday arraigned in city court, charged with a breach of the peace, to which she pleaded guilty, through her attorney. She received a sentence of three months in jail, without costs.

There were many circumstances which both the court and State's Attorney Sherman thought warranted clemency in the case of the LeClair girl. It was shown that before the acid throwing, the Macy girl had made a headless attack on Lottie. The two separated for an interval and when Lottie saw Rose coming towards her again she supposed it was to renew the encounter, and she threw the acid, with the result that Rose threw the sight of the left eye permanently.

While the statutes impose a heavy penalty for maiming an eye, the state's attorney said the evidence was lacking that Lottie threw the acid with malicious intent. It was also upon Lottie's testimony that Fanny Borette was convicted of running a disorderly house, and that the Borette woman and her husband were bound over for illegal liquor selling.

ALLEGED THIEVES IN JAIL.

Two Arrests Made in St. Albans For Trial Later.

St. Albans, Jan. 29.—Charged with breaking, entering and burglary, Joseph Gokey of this city was yesterday held in the sum of $500 for appearance at the March term of Franklin county court. Last Thursday night, the store and market of Frank Nardin on Lake street, was robbed and included in the missing property was $10 in pennies. A watch was set on a few suspicious characters and Gokey's capture resulted from his prodigious expenditure of the coin, which he was not able to prove where he got it.

Joseph Lovick is lying in Franklin county jail charged with robbing the residence of P. O. Collins on the evening of January 25. Lovick, who at one time worked at the Collins place, went there during the owner's absence and stole a sum of money, a suit of clothes and other clothing and a check. He was captured in Swanton by Sheriff Holmes while making his way to Canada.

FRACTURED SKULL BY FALL.

Telephone St. Lawrence Met Death by Accident at Somersworth.

Somersworth, N. H., Jan. 29.—Telephone St. Lawrence, a well known resident, died as the result of a fall last night. He was found in the walkway leading to the home of George F. Gagne, 16 Union street, last evening just before 7 o'clock at the point of death. This walkway leads from Union street and there is one step down from the sidewalk to the entrance to Mr. Gagne's home.

The man was found there by Mrs. Peter M. Gagne, who was returning from a trip to the grocery store. She rushed into the house and gave the alarm and the police were called. On their arrival an examination of the man was made and it was then learned that he was badly injured. He was taken into Mr. Gagne's house and a physician summoned, but he died before the physician arrived.

Medical Referee John H. Neal of Rochester was summoned and viewed the body pronounced the death due to a fall. The skull was fractured and the dead man's face was badly bruised and cut.

It is supposed that Mr. St. Lawrence slipped from the step in going from the sidewalk and plunged headlong to the brick paving of the walk leading to Mr. Gagne's home.

PAY $100 FINE.

For Bringing Woman and Her Daughter
Into Country.

Burlington, Jan. 29.—Alphonse Van Bever, who was charged with fraudulently bringing into this country Celina Bonheure and her daughter, Adrienne Bonheure, has settled the case pending against him by the payment through his attorney, Martin S. Vilas, of $100 and costs into the United States district court. Van Bever pleaded guilty, through his attorney.

Van Bever was arrested a few weeks since, having brought into the United States, from Canada, the woman and her child in question, claiming that they were his wife and child. For a time he was confined in Chittenden county jail, but was later admitted to bail. Mrs. Bonheure and daughter are still in jail. It is likely that they will be deported to Montreal, whence they came. Originally they came from France, but were held up from entering this country owing to an affliction of the mother's eyes.

on Their Church.

Montpelier, Jan. 29.—The Rev. W. A. Davidson, local agent for the Baptist Home Missionary society, visited the trustees of the First Baptist church yesterday while they were discussing the repairing of their church, which was damaged by fire Sunday afternoon. As the result of the meeting of the trustees W. E. Jackson, C. E. Bigbee, contractor and painter, respectively, were put to work this morning. The actual loss by fire is small, although the supports of the tower will have to be replaced. There was no insurance on the carpets and pew cushions. The first crop had been harvested, so that with the second crop from the Frost ponds there will be sufficient for home consumption.

WILL RESUME ISSUE
OF 2 1-2 CENT FAREIf the Railroad Commission Interprets
the Law So That the Action Would Not Be Construed as Discriminatory.

At a meeting of the directors of the Barre and Montpelier Power and Traction company last night and today the position of the local directors in seeking to get an extension from the state railroad commission on a new railroad law was affirmed. As a result, the directors will ask the state commission for an interpretation of the section of the law which relates to discrimination in rates.

The controversy arose over the withdrawal of the two and one-half cent workmen's tickets for distances between the limits of the city. It was stated this afternoon that if the company found that it could give the tickets under the law it would do so.

EXPRESS THEIR CONFIDENCE.

Central Labor Union on President Cruickshank's Recent Address.

Whereas several papers throughout the state have commented on the part that James Cruickshank, President of the Central Labor Union, took in addressing a meeting held a short time ago to protest against the arrest of Louis Galleani for alleged complicity in the Silk Workers' riot in Patterson, N. J., some years ago, and

Whereas said comments may have created a wrong impression of the object for which Bro. Cruickshank addressed said meeting, therefore be it

Resolved that we the members of the Central Labor Union of Barre and vicinity, of which Bro. Cruickshank is president, clearly understanding the motive for his presence there, and having read his speech delivered on that occasion hereby endorse the action taken by the Barre Branch, C. C. I. A., on the matter, and in like manner express our entire confidence in his judgment and integrity as president of this body. Be it further Resolved that this resolution be published in the Vermont Union Signal and the Barre Daily Times.

APOLOGIZES.

Pat McCarty Is Willing to Stand Corrected.

Editor Times:—I regret that I misrepresented the facts in the case of the withdrawal of the workmen's tickets and apologize to the "Press Committee" for my attorney in mentioning it in Friday's issue. Owing to my unbecomingly thoughtless and public matter and of interest to the walking public, and not a personal grievance of labor officials. However, I am willing to stand corrected and bow my head to their superior wisdom, discretion and patience. In the meantime dinner calls are in demand and the local nobblers are working overtime.

LONG-TIME MERCHANT
IS TO RETIREL. M. Averill Leases Store to Eastern Tea Company For a Term of Years.

After being in active mercantile business in Barre for 25 years, Luther M. Averill, one of the city's oldest merchants, has decided to retire, and his store in the Averill building, opposite the city park, has been leased to the Eastern Tea company for a term of years, possession to be given in a few weeks. Mr. Averill relinquishes his business with regret, for it has become a part of his life to greet customers and enter into business relations with them. In the long period that he has been in business he has seen Barre grow from a straggling group of villages into a bustling city and an equally bustling town.

After receiving a business education in the Eastman Business college and a training under such old-time merchants as "Storekeeper" Perkins and Stillman Wood, he was prepared to "keep store" for himself, and he embarked on the enterprise in what was called the "old brown ark," which was located where the Granite Savings bank building now stands. Here he remained until nineteen years ago when he erected the three-story Averill building, just south of his former store. In the larger of the two stores in this block he has conducted business for almost a score of years. His place of business has long since become one of the business landmarks of the community, and its proprietor has earned for himself the reputation of being a man of honest dealings.

He first started out with a strictly grocery business, and then as the needs demanded he added other lines. When he first entered business there was no railroad into Barre and merchants had to have their goods teamed to Barre from Montpelier, which was then the terminal of the Central Vermont. The first carload of flour that came into Barre by rail was consigned to Mr. Averill.

After leaving business Mr. Averill will devote himself for a time to his real estate interests in this city and take a rest from active business life. The Eastern Tea company, which takes a lease of the store, will put in a line of teas, coffee and similar goods. The store is one of the most spacious in town, being 85 feet deep, and its location is one of the best in the city. The stock of goods in the store will be sold by Mr. Averill at greatly reduced prices; in fact, will be closed out regardless of cost.

JUDGE IN DOUBT
OVER LAW'S STATUSAttorney For Defence Brought Up Constitutionality of Law Relating to Running of Deer by Dogs.

Montpelier, Jan. 29.—The city court room was crowded with Italians last evening when the cases against eight Italians and Spaniards for keeping dogs that have chased deer was set for hearing. City Grand Juror C. M. Heaton represented the state and John N. Harvey, the several respondents. Before the first case, that of State vs. Pelduzzi was fully heard an adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

Mr. Harvey made a motion for a non-suit on the ground that the act under which these prosecutions are brought is unconstitutional in that it prohibits the owner of a dog from allowing it to run on his own land, if on that land should happen to be a forest frequented by deer.

City Judge E. M. Harvey did not wish to rule off hand on the constitutionality of this law and requested counsel for the state and for the respondents to furnish him with citations before Wednesday morning.

The second teams were quite evenly matched, the score in the first half being 5 to 3 in favor of Montpelier and in the last half it was 10 to 10, until the high school forged ahead in the last few minutes.
